

António Baptistag

Research interests

Democratic Theory, Political Equality, Distributive Justice, Republicanism, Political Representation, Populism.

Education

2013: Ph.D in Political Theory at the University of Lisbon (summa cum laude).
Supervisor: Filipe Carreira da Silva (ICS-UL and Cambridge University).

2008: M.A. in Political Science at the Instituto de Ciências Sociais at the University of Lisbon.

2004: B.A. in Law at the Faculty of Law at Nova University of Lisbon.

Research and teaching activity

2014: Post-doctoral research in Political Science Department at the University of São Paulo (USP). This included teaching two different courses (one in 2014-2015; another in 2015-2016).

Biographical statement

My research interests include democratic theory, constitutionalism and democracy, political representation, populism, egalitarian theories of justice, market socialism, property-owning democracy, workplace democracy. I have recently published in collaboration with Roberto Merrill a special issue on property-owning democracy.

Selected publications

2004: “A Crítica de Cohen a Dworkin”, in Themis, VII, nº12, pp. 85-94

2010: “Democracia e Representação Democrática”, in Análise Social, vol. XLV (196), pp. 491-514, available at:

<http://analisesocial.ics.ul.pt/documentos/1283950347H8xVE1wi0Ix63UD8.pdf>.

2012: “As constituições económicas portuguesa e espanhola em perspectiva comparada: transição democrática e abertura relativa dos sistemas económicos ibéricos”, in O Direito, v. IV, p. 909 - 950.

2015: “What is democratic about property-owning democracy?”, in Diacrítica (Braga), v. 29, p, 109 - 129, available at:

http://ceh.ilch.uminho.pt/publicacoes/Diacritica_29-2.pdf.

2016: book review of: “The Power of Market Fundamentalism”. Karl Polanyi’s Critique», by Block, Richard; Sommers, Margaret R, in Análise Social, vol. LI (221), pp. 1020-1024,available at:

http://analisesocial.ics.ul.pt/documentos/AS_221_rec08.pdf.

Projects

I’m currently preparing a special issue on Hayek and Polanyi and their enduring relevance today to be published in the journal Ethics, Politics, and Society.

Contact

* E-mail: alsbaptista@gmail.com

* Phone +351 960223771